Carlyle Gibbs Wearable Art Jewellery is a joint design venture by artists Kathryn Carlyle and Cheryl Gibbs. Their beautiful handcrafted pieces are now on view at the working artists' cooperative The Arts Arena, in Delray Beach, Florida, where Carlyle and Gibbs are resident artists.

Carlyle and Gibbs draw the inspiration for their designs from nature, and attempt to make metal behave in new ways. Their jewellery was chosen by the popular TV Show "Burn Notice" to enhance the fashions in a new episode called "Dressed to Kill." The shoot was filmed in Miami during July 2009. Carlyle and Gibbs were on hand to advise the models how to best wear their art.

Both Carlyle and Gibbs are painters as well as wearable art jewellery designers. Their jewellery can be worn as well as displayed. These and many other pieces are on view at The Arts Arena Gallery, Delray Beach, Florida.
